

JOHN CABOT discovers NEWFOUNDLAND with the CHRISTOPHER COLUMBUS ship.

John G. McEntyre
(jgmcentyre@yahoo.com)

In 1492
Christopher Columbus
discovers America
aboard his Flagship: "Santa Maria"

*'FLAG SHIP OF COLUMBUS'
below picture on 1892 issue*

In 1497
John Cabot
discovers Newfoundland aboard his Ship: "The Matthew"

*'CABOTS SHIP "THE MATTHEW"
LEAVING THE AVON'
below picture on 1897 issue.*

As pictured and named on the stamps, the ship used by John Cabot looks identical to the ship used by Christopher Columbus. So, he must have disposed his Flagship "Santa Maria" after his famous discovery, and John Cabot, had to have acquired it from some used-ship inventory and then renamed it "The Matthew" for his upcoming voyage of discovery.

And, for the skeptics who have trouble believing this ,
herewith an actual PROOF

PLATE PROOF PAIR
on India mounted on cardboard.

The FACT that the American Bank Note Company designed and printed both stamps should have no bearing on this claim !

NEWFOUNDLAND is an Island just off the east coast of Canada and was a British colony until it joined Canada in 1949.