

EXPLORING ANTARCTICA

Until 19th century, Antarctica was considered an unknown continent to mankind. This enigmatic place in the extreme south of the planet is an incomparable beauty ecological wonder due to its extreme climatic conditions and unique fauna, which makes it one of the most exotic destinations in the world.

PERUVIAN EXPEDITIONS TO ANTARCTICA

Peru has made 30 scientific expeditions to Antarctica, with the participation of different public and private institutions dedicated to research.

ANTARCTIC TREATY SINCE 1959

This conference adopted recommendations on scientific cooperation, conservation of Antarctic fauna and flora, expedition activities and the use of this region only for peaceful purposes.

